

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

When you undermine diversity of media ownership, you undermine democracy. For democracy to work, the marketplace of ideas must reflect views from a broad spectrum of political viewpoints. The FCC should move to restore diversity of media ownership, not further reduce it.